Judge's Ruling Reveals Taxpayers Paid For Controversy In South Fulton Council

A ruling Wednesday by Obion County Circuit Judge E. A. Morris revealed that South Fulton's controversial City Council has been extremely costly to the taxpayers of the Tennessee city. At a hearing in Union City Wednesday morning Judge Morris ruled that the attempted discharge of Charles B. Fields as city attorney was illegal and void; that Mayor Counce had the right to employ special counsel under the City's charter. Tennessee statutes and common law requires that any city employee can be discharged only by bringing specific charges of misconduct in office. Since Fields was discharged by a four-man faction on the Council (John Bland, B. B. Jones, W. W. Claiborne and John Freeman) without cause, Judge Morris' ruling, in effect, re-instates Fields as City Attorney.

Under these circumstances, Judge Morris said, both Sam Nailling, appointed by Counce as legal counsel to the Mayor and Robert D. Fry, named as special counsel to the majority by the four-man faction, must be paid out of taxpayers' money. A conservative figure of the additional cost to the taxpayers is approximately $500, according to reliable estimates made by an informed source. The City attorney was paid $25 a month.

Another additional cost to the taxpayers is the controversy that raged around the employment of an auditor of the city's records. Previous to this year, the books have been audited at prices ranging from $300 to $600 a year. However, the majority faction on the Council, led by Bland, voted to change auditors at a cost of $2232.05 to the taxpayers.

Here's the story on the double attorney situation at South Fulton:

On January 2 when the new Council was sworn in, Mayor Counce revealed the appointment of Charles Fields as City Attorney. No vote was necessary since the Charter grants the Mayor the right to appoint legal counsel.

On April 6 Councilman Claiborne moved that Attorney Fields be dismissed with Bland seconding the motion. Freeman and Jones voted for the dismissal. Ruddle and Matthews voted against it. No charges were filed against Fields as required by law.

On April 22 John Bland moved that Robert Fry, a Union City attorney be hired as special counsel. The motion was seconded by Claiborne with Jones and Freeman voting "yes" with them. Ruddle voted against the employment of Fry. Matthews was absent.

On May 4 Mayor Counce employed Sam Nailling as counsel. No vote was taken since the Charter grants the Mayor this privilege.

Judge Morris showed sympathy for South Fulton voters when he said at the hearing Wednesday: "The people may think this is double expense, but they have to bear the cost when they have the kind of Council they have had."

ter grants the Mayor this privilege. Nailling is also a Union City attorney.

Since that date both attorneys have attended the Council meetings, with the four-man faction referring questions to Fry and the minority group seeking the counsel of Nailling.

Ruddle and Counce are seeking election as City Commissioners under the City Manager form of government voted in by South Fulton voters who sought to rid the city of the constant controversy and the growing cost of city government. John Reeks, a South Fulton businessman who bitterly opposed the Bland faction on the Council, oftentimes for unnecessary expenditures, is also seeking one of the three posts to be decided in a special election on September 22.

Other candidates are: Bill Jetton, Kellie Lowe, Sr. and W. W. Claiborne.

Fulton's Airport To Get Lighting System; State, City Of Fulton, To Share Expense

Governor Edward T. Breathitt may well be the first high ranking dignitary to fly out of Fulton's Airport after dark when he visits here on October 2 to attend Latin-American Day at the Banana Festival. It's as it should be, for Breathitt's Commissioner of Aeronautics Phil Swift, advised the News today that his department is furnishing the lighting equipment for the local airport, while the City of Fulton will bear the cost of installing the system.

At a meeting at the City Hall Tuesday night Mrs. Paul Westpheling, a member of the Fulton Airport Board reported to Mayor Gilbert DeMyer, City Manager Rollin Shaw, and the airport board on her trip to Frankfort last week to secure Kentucky's financial participation in the lighting system for the local field.

On being advised of the importance of a lighted runway to accommodate the many officials, industrialists and high-ranking dignitaries who come to the city for industrial prospecting, Commissioner Swift appointed the local editor to investigate the cost of the lights and materials, as well as to determine the length of time necessary to install the lights.

Line Materials Company of Milwaukee was contacted from the Governor's office in Frankfort. After making several contacts with its suppliers in the Mid-South the company advised that the equipment would be shipped on Tuesday morning and arrive here this week-end by special delivery.

Paul Wright, chairman of the Airport Board, Mayor Gilbert DeMyer and City Manager Rollin Shaw pledged their whole-hearted support to install the lighting system as soon as the equipment arrives. Fulton's 2700-foot runway, will be lighted on both sides with alternating clear and green lights. An engineer from the Department of Aeronautics will come to Fulton to supervise the installation.

Dr. John Ragsdale, a member of the Airport Board, who is also a licensed pilot, said that the installation of the lights will mean a great deal to attracting industrial prospects to the city. He cited the many instances when it was necessary for him and other pilots to land by automobile lights. "We take a big chance every time we try to land after dark," he said. "The lighting system will also make way for Fulton's airport to be notated on all aerial maps and that means a lot," he added.

Mr. Wright, and other flying enthusiasts and members of the local Flying Club have maintained the airport on a "do-it-yourself" basis since thus far the City of Fulton has been unable to appropriate any funds for maintenance. The City of Fulton is making monthly payments on the city's $25,000.00 share of the airport's construction.

Mayor DeMyer reported that he was vitally interested in the local airport project and at the earliest possible time plans to include in the city's budget some appropriation for maintenance.

Earl Holloway, manager of the Fulton Electric System has offered to service the local airport with electrical current. Mr. Holloway also made it known that he will personally make periodic checks to see that the lights are in good operating order at all times.

All present expressed deep appreciation to Commissioner Swift for his assistance in securing the lighting system for the local airport.

Other members of the airport board besides Mr. Wright, Dr. Ragsdale and Mrs. Westpheling are Garland Merryman and Stanley Jones. An appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Les Giddings, who had moved away from the city, will be made at an early date.

Barring any unforeseen circumstances the lighting system should be ready by the end of the month. Any members of the Flying Club and others interested in the airport are asked to help with installing the system.

The Kentucky Department of Aeronautics has a policy that the cost of improvements to existing airports must be borne by the State on an equal basis with Airport Boards, when State funds are available. The cost of the materials will be assumed by Commissioner Swift's department, while the City of Fulton will bear the cost of installing the system.

Although the Airport Board does not have a full-time operator, members of the Airport Board, members of the Flying Club and the various City of Fulton departments will assume the responsibility of attending to the lighting system.

Notebook

Jack Callihan, a gentle and soft-spoken man, died Monday night at the Jones Hospital. In failing health for several years he became ill last week, yet his death was not expected. Jack, and his devoted wife Blanche were our next door neighbors. We never saw them as much as we would have liked to, but we knew that they were there, sharing the kind of neighborliness that is comforting and warm.

Having retired from the Illinois Central Railroad seven years ago, Jack spent most all of his time at his home and in his garden, which he and Blanche tended, to the envy of all of us. It was a familiar sight in all kinds of weather to see this devoted couple working their flower beds; and in the late evenings taking a walk down the road. Oftentimes we stopped and chatted with them. Jack, in his gentle way, was always interested in what we were doing and how things were going around town. We somehow remembered his pleasant voice for long hours after we visited, because he was, as one of his friends said, "a good man, in his heart and in his mind."

Jack was 71 at the time of his death.

He was a native of Gleason, Tenn., and the son of the late M. T. and Mrs. Cora Phillips Callihan.

A veteran of World War I, Jack Callihan was a member of Fulton First Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Blanche Callihan of Fulton; his daughter, Mrs. Charles Humphries of Paducah; two sisters, Mrs. L. C. Lee of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. B. V. Neele of California; a brother, Milton Callihan of Fulton, and a grandson, Lee Humphries, a student at Indiana University in Bloomington.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at Fulton First Methodist Church with the Rev. W. T. Barnes officiating. Burial was in Obion County Memorial Gardens.

Southern Bell Plans Open House At Cayce, Dukedom This Month

Special Open Houses for telephone subscribers in Cayce and Dukedom have been announced by Southern Bell.

The Open House at Cayce is scheduled for Tuesday, September 15 and the one at Dukedom will be held on Thursday, September 17, according to Curtis B. Mathis, local manager. Both will begin at 7:00 p. m. and should last about two hours or less.

At Cayce, visitors are asked to meet at the Cayce Methodist Church, where there will be some introductory remarks and where a special presentation of some of the future developments of the telephone will be shown. After the program, guests will be taken on a guided tour of the dial building which is across the road from the church. Guests will then return to the church for refreshments.

The same program is planned for Dukedom, except that everyone will meet at the Dukedom Dial Office.

One part of the program, will be a demonstration of the laser, which is a ray of light that will be used in the future to transmit sound, pictures, and data. The laser also will be used a great deal in medicine and industry, Mathis said.

Henry Ward Achieves Record As Highway Boss With Longest Record Of Service! Thank Goodness

Today, September 10, Henry Ward makes an important notation in his public service achievement book. The notation is that Ward, has served continuously as Commissioner of Highways longer than any other person. And he is the only person in the 52-year history of Kentucky road building to be appointed highway commissioner by successive state administrations.

Ward's public service achievement in the highway department eclipses that of Robert C. Terrell, who served four years and ten days. Terrell was appointed by Governor James B. McCreary on June 12, 1912.

In any other highly specialized field, a person who has been on the job for that length of time could well be serving his apprenticeship. But in the hazardous arena of politics, particularly the patronage-infested highway department, four years and ten days is indeed an outstanding accomplishment.

In Henry Ward's case it is particularly unusual, because ordinarily a fellow who operates like Henry gets knifed, axed and kicked out in short order by pressure from the political bosses. But not so the former newspaperman from McCracken County, who has also served as State Representative from that area and as head of the vast State Parks Department.

This is not to say that Henry has not been the target for some expert axing from the political bosses. Since here we've been, he twice has been ruled out as a candidate for lieutenant governor, and about as many times the powers that be have by-passed him as a candidate for governor.

Why? The answer is Henry Ward, that's why! Here is a man who is one of the best administrators of our time; he is impatient with incompetence; he abhors red tape; he loathes bureaucratic delay; he does not succumb to political pressures when they interfere with what he thinks is the efficient and economical way to get the job done - any kind of a job.

None of these characteristics are conducive to personal vote-getting, so some political bosses think, yet, the fact that Henry Ward would continue as highway commissioner, was a major vote-getting plank in Edward T. Breathitt's campaign for governor. That figures. Conscientious Kentuckians, concerned with getting the most and best highways for the tax dollar involved knew that Henry Ward was the man to get the job done. He has more than fulfilled those expectations. Besides being the "longest-serving" highway commissioner, Henry said with a smile, he bids well to be the most controversial, the most able, the most respected, the hardest worker, and the most cussed and discussed highway commissioner of all time.

We would not dare to enumerate all of Henry Ward's accomplishments as a public servant. As a newspaperman, he wrote the news as he saw it and as it happened. As a legislator he fought for his constituency and his State. As Commissioner of Conservation he made great strides in this field, as well as to build and set the pattern for one of the greatest State Parks systems in the country. As an official of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce he instituted programs that are still paying dividends for that city. As highway commissioner the Kentucky highway program has made its greatest strides.

We like Henry Ward. We admire his tenacity. We like the personal attention he gives to the big problems and the small problems that confront him. Though we hardly know when he has time to attend to all his duties, we also like to get letters from him, short ones and long ones.

In summing up the fact that we're happy he's a public servant we can best do so by quoting Henry Ward himself:

"I realize it's hard to streamline an elephant," Ward reasons, "but by continual prodding you can at least keep the animal from lying down."

Ward, as an elephant trainer, not only has kept the Highway Department from lying down, he has kept it jogging at a respectable pace. And in the race toward program he is out front of his charge—pulling, coaxing, reasoning, arguing for what he believes is right—in short, doing with gusto what he is paid to do, administering with great results what is considered to many the hardest agency in State government to administer. There's little time to look backward in a job such as this.

"Besides, it's a little hard to see behind you when you're dragging an elephant by the trunk or running to stay ahead of it," reasoned Ward.

We are Henry Ward folks from 'way back!

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, the appointment of an investigating commission brought to an abrupt end a 51-day reign of violence in Western Kentucky by Union Army Brig. Gen. Eleazer A. Paine. He and his associates fled to Illinois when they heard that Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Burbridge, military governor of the state, had appointed two Kentucky officers to inquire into Paine's conduct—Brig. Gen. Speed Smith Fry and Col. John Mason Brown.

Kentucky's elected civilian governor, Thomas E. Bramlette, himself a former colonel in the Union Army, had appealed to President Lincoln to order the appointment of a military commission "composed of good, brave, just, and fearless men" to investigate the conduct of Paine and his confederates, Lucien Anderson, a congressman, and John F. Bollinger. Bramlette accused them of "unjustly oppressing and most iniquitously extorting money and property from citizens for their own private gain."

The two-officer commission went to Paducah, which had been Paine's headquarters, and heard testimony there and at Mayfield. Residents of the two cities had been the chief victims of Paine's high-handed operations, perhaps because more could be gained by confiscations and bribe-taking where wealth was concentrated. The commission's official report fully sustained complaints such as had been made by Gov. Bramlette and many others.

Paine, a West Pointer from Ohio, had resigned from the Regular Army the year after his graduation from the military academy, to become a lawyer and politician. He had been active in the Ohio militia, in which he had gained brigadier's rank within five years after he returned to civilian life. At the outbreak of the Civil War, he had been commissioned colonel of the Ninth Illinois Infantry regiment, and 39 days later had been promoted brigadier general. It had been at the request of the Paducah chapter of the Union League of America that he had been named the Western Kentucky commander and given a "free hand," as the Union Leaguers specified.

The commission's report said of Paine that his "violence of manner terrified some of the best citizens into leaving their homes" and that "he continually uttered sanguinary and brutal threats, and the execution of some guerrillas (or persons charged with that crime) gave such color to his threats as to alarm the entire country."

The report said that "citizens against whom not an earthly charge could be made were summarily arrested and thrust into the guardhouse." Paine sentenced to death a man named Dougherty after he had been tried and acquitted by a court martial. Only the hasty departure of Paine saved 43 persons had been executed at Paine's orders. His subordinate, a Col. McChesney of Illinois, had killed seven at Mayfield, four of them "without a shadow of a trial."

UK Library Displays Best Russian Books

The exhibition at UK will continue through September and then will be sent to other American universities for display.

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

It is interesting to note that 100 years ago last week a Democratic national convention was also in progress, and faced with the same problem as the one in Atlantic City last week.

In 1964, Mississippi had two delegations seeking recognition in Atlantic City. In 1964 Kentucky had two delegations seeking recognition in Chicago.

100 years ago in Chicago, the convention admitted BOTH sets of delegates, giving each a half-vote and urging them to work together—and they did!

For the past month we have noted a truckload of concrete blocks stacked on the street in a parking meter space on the side of the burned Legion building on 4th Street. Now let's see—that would be at least 24 metering days, at 5c per hour, 10 hours a day, adding an extra two hours each Saturday for the 4 Saturdays on it, and "go" when it says "go,"—or $12.40 charges, for this period. It looks to us that it won't be long before the City can lay claim to the stack for storage charges. They ARE keeping up with them same as everyone else's auto, of course.

There's a fellow around here in the area nearby who says he's started for highway attention, and that he's "fed up to his chin." I wonder which chin he meant; he had three of 'em last time I saw him.

The stoplight at the corner of State Line and Broadway streets continues to create a lot of discussion and attention, although this week we noticed that people now seem to be aware of it and no longer stop-and-go as was the custom heretofore. Unless the timing has been changed, it is set for 20 seconds on green for State line traffic and 30 seconds on green for Broadway and Commercial. The main problem seems to be that people don't keep their eye on it, and "go" when it says "go." It's easy to use up 10 or 15 seconds of your time just sitting there, if you're not watching.

Small spot for a big job! Not even the touch of a ballerina's slipper leaves so tiny a mark.
Yet this is the actual size of the impress on a rail of the wheel of an Illinois Central freight car, a wheel carrying 10 tons or more at perhaps 60 miles an hour.
This small area of surface friction between wheel and rail makes railroad transportation fundamentally economical. Nothing can beat it. Except more efficient railroading.
You'll see many new and larger freight cars rolling on the Illinois Central this year. And each wheel will roll easily on a spot smaller than a penny. Which is nearly all we collect ($0.0114), on the average, to haul a ton of freight one mile.
To achieve more economical transportation for you and all the people of Mid-America, the Illinois Central is spending $35 million for improvements this year, bringing our total since World War II to $485 million.

Presidential Campaign Has Taxpayers Comparing Notes On Poverty, Spending, Promises, Facts

In this presidential year, when the candidates of both major political parties bring their campaigns into our living rooms, via television, more and more Americans will be discussing the issues in the campaign and the platforms of the parties.

At the same time Mr. Average American wonders just what promises will become facts and how much larger or smaller the tax bite will be. Recently we had the occasion to ponder the enigma of government policy and spending.

One article revealed that Congress had voted itself some whopping pay increases; in the same issue we noted that 5000 Air Force family men were forced on relief by low pay. A survey showed that 4,698 enlisted men accept some form of housing help. Another 280 receive supplemental food from relief agencies, 45 obtain cash relief grants and 24 get relief clothing.

In the case of the 5000 enlisted men interviewed, their yearly service incomes were below the $3000 poverty level for a family of four set by President Johnson's Council of Economic advisors. Yet, millions and millions of dollars have been appropriated to combat poverty in these United States. It appears to us that a swift look around the Pentagon could help the program a great deal.

In another bit of reading we learned that Congressman Abele of Ohio has looked into some of the more unusual federal appropriations of our tax money. As recounted by the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, here are a few:

$15,200 for a study of society and demography in ancient Babylonia.

$36,800 to look into the social behavior of ants.

$2,100 to look into the behavior pattern of barren-ground caribou.

$20,600 to try to learn about communication signals in birds.

$13,700 to study the social structure in Madagascar.

$65,400 to examine the behavior and ecology of the wandering albatross.

Now who's on first base?

Miss Fall, Mr. Baxter Exchange Vows In Lovely Church Ceremony

By Agatha Gayle Voelpel

In a double ring ceremony marked by stately elegance Miss Charlotte Anne Fall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ernest Fall, Junior, became the bride of John Stuart Baxter, son of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Edwin Baxter of Lexington, Kentucky, on Saturday afternoon the fifth of September. The ceremony at the First Methodist Church was witnessed by a large assembly of relatives and friends of the parents and the young couple. The Reverend William T. Barnes, minister of the church officiated.

The altar section of the sanctuary was beautifully decorated with a large pyramid arrangement of specimen gladioli centering the choir rail. Matching altar vases were filled with gladioli and Fuji chrysanthemums. At intervals on the choir rail and in the pulpit were tall candelabra holding tall white candies. Small arrangements of the same flowers marked the place of the ceremony. Multiple arrangements of woodwardia ferns added richness to the setting. The reserved pews were marked with small clusters of fern, Fujis, gladioli and white satin bows.

Nuptial music was furnished by the First Methodist Church organist, Mr. John Winter, in a concert before the ceremony. For the entrance of the mothers the organist used "Liebestraum" by Liszt and "Ave Maria" by Schubert. The traditional wedding marches from Wagner and Mendelssohn were used for the processional and the recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of ivory duchess satin, which had been worn by her mother and by her maternal aunt. The V neckline of the dress was finished with a Queen Anne collar of hand drawn Alencon lace. The fitted sleeves were finished with the same lace. The bride's short veil, also worn by her mother on her wedding day, was of heirloom rosepoint lace belonging to her maternal great aunt. It was fashioned around a tiny pillbox covered with ivory satin and the lace. She carried white roses and ivy arranged in a cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Charles H. Bowers, sister of the bride was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Montague, Mrs. Robert Quattlebaum, and Mrs. Max McDade. The attendants wore identical floor length dresses of Fiesta satin. The bridesmaids wore headpieces fashioned of fiesta satin covered circlets covered with short veils and featuring a small bow in the center front. Their bouquets were cascades of white Fuji poms and ivy.

Lynn and Debbie Bowers, nieces of the bride, wore flower girls gowned in floor length ivory taffeta dresses designed with puffed sleeves and floor length gathered skirts. They carried lacy baskets filled with rose petals, which they scattered along the bridal aisle.

James Allen Baxter, twin brother of the groom, served his brother as best man. The ushers were

Mrs. John Stuart Baxter

Charles Bowers, William Montague, Michael Burke, and John Mertz.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fall chose a handsome dress of peau de soie in a flesh pink shade. The dress was designed along sheath lines. She wore a matching pill box hat covered with lace and having a dainty veil. Her accessories matched her dress and her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Baxter, mother of the groom wore an afternoon frock of madonna blue taffeta. Her hat was of matching beaded blue flowers. Her accessories were of the same blue and she, too, had orchids in corsage.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fall entertained with a reception at the Fulton Country Club. The bride's table was draped with a floor length white taffeta cloth covered with floor length net. Clusters of white gladioli and white satin ribbons were used at intervals along the table. Smilax ropes fastooned the table. Tall silver candelabra holding tall candles centered the table.

Crystal and silver appointments were used. The large mantel was centered with a spreading arrangement of white gladioli and Fuji. Tall silver candle sticks flanked the flowers.

The register table held a tall wedding candle, and a wedding pen. The two grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. J. D. Davis and Mrs. Ernest Fall, Senior presided at the register. Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Robert Sanger, Mrs. Robert Binford, Miss Ella Doyle, Miss Jane Binford, Mrs. Mike Burke, Miss Nancy Sanger, Mrs. Robert Sanger, Junior, Miss Ellen Sanger, Mrs. James Baxter.

When the young couple left for their wedding trip Mrs. Baxter was wearing an early fall costume suit of linen knit in a soft shade of green. Her pillbox hat was matching green and was covered with green and brown leaves. Her accessories were brown lizard. She wore an orchid at her shoulder.

Letters To Editor

Mrs. Paul Westpheling
P. O. Box 485
Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Jo:

Your letter of August 6 relates to a problem that is becoming increasingly difficult with the development of the superhighways and the connecting routes to other highways and toll roads. As an individual motorist, I realize the importance of good signing and have asked the Department to do everything possible to meet these needs. In fact, I have recognized the importance to motorists to such an extent that I am now finding myself more and more against any other kind of signs on the highway right of way other than those required for the use of the motorist. I am referring your letter to W. G. Galloway, Director of the Division of Traffic, because this particular program is under his direction. The Division of Traffic is probably the best professionally qualified in the Department, and I am sure it will be given proper attention.

Of course, I know those shoulders don't look good either, but it is the old matter of finding enough money to do everything that needs to be done.

With best personal regards, I am

Cordially yours,

Comedian Jerry Van Dyke To Perform At Banana Festival

America's outstanding young comedian, Jerry Van Dyke, has accepted the invitation of the International Banana Festival Board to entertain as Master of Ceremonies at the Inter-American Music Fiesta.

With the Festival program underway on Thursday, October 1, the Music Fiesta will highlight the Friday evening activities in the three day, star-studded international program in Fulton, Kentucky.

With Jerry Van Dyke performing as Master of Ceremonies, the Inter-American Music Fiesta are the talents of the Guatemalan Army Marimba Band, a Folk Dance group representing the Republic of Costa Rica, and musical entertainment from North America.

Representing musical talent from the United States at the Inter-American Music Fiesta are Mrs. Bertha Wenzel, with songs from the Packetboat Era, the Polka Dot Kids, who will perform a Kentucky Running Set, Aunt Jemima, offering four American Spirituals, and the Hickory Hill Singers, who recently performed at the National Folk Music Festival.

Sponsored by businessmen and residents of Fulton, Kentucky—South Fulton, Tennessee, along with the National Banana Association, the Festival is motivated by a sincere desire to reveal the coincidence of interests that lie on a parallel course with our country and those banana-producing countries to the south of us. The program, designed to create opportunities for friendships and understanding between North and South Americans, will have as its theme, "Project—Unite Us."

Known as the "Banana Crossroads of America," the Fultons serve as a redistribution center for bananas shipped from Central and South America banana-producing countries to points throughout the United States and Canada.

School Students Urged To Enter Banana Festival Essay Contest

Another interesting phase of the 1964 Banana Festival will be the essay contest which is being opened today for students of Fulton High and South Fulton High. The subject of the essay is to be: "Why It Is Important That We Have Friends in South America."

First prize will be $25, second prize will be $15, and third will be $10. In addition to these money prizes extensive publicity will be given to the winners. The three winning essays will be published in the local papers, along with pictures of the winners. The winning essays will also be published in the International Banana Festival brochure, which will be mailed to dignitaries of the South American countries.

Rules for writing the essay are as follows:

1. Any student enrolled in grades 9-12 of Fulton High or South Fulton High may enter.
2. The subject of the essay is: Why It Is Important That We Have Friends in South America.

3. Your essay must not exceed 750 words. The number of words must be shown on the cover sheet of the essay.
4. You may gather information from any source. Suggested sources include: your school library references, the public library, near-by college libraries that might be available to you, social science teachers, persons who have lived in Latin countries (there are several such persons in our community).

5. Your essay must be written in ink or typewritten (double-spaced) on one side of the paper only.
6. Place the following information on your cover sheet along with the number of words contained in the essay: your name, your home address, the name of your school.

7. All essays must be in the hands of the judges on September 23, 1964.

The name of the writer will be removed from each essay and a code number assigned to it before the essays are turned over to the judges.

Local school officials are co-operating with the effort and it is hoped that a large number of students will enter the competition.

Meeting Planned For All Local Soybean Growers

On September 10, at 1:30 p. m. Fulton County Agent John Watts is planning a meeting for soybean growers from the eight Purchase counties at the University of Kentucky soybean research plots on the Robert Sanger farm six miles west of Hickman on Highway 311 off Ky. 94 West of Hickman.

Mr. Shirley Phillips, from the University of Kentucky Agronomy Department, will be in charge of the program and will discuss improved production practices for higher net profit.

Twelve varieties were used in these plots; two of these varieties are nematode resistant.

Soybeans in the Purchase counties produce a four million dollar annual income on about sixty thousand acres.

All County Agents, soybean producers, buyers and processors are urged to attend.

Obion County To Select Its County Leaders

The Obion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has made announcement of the annual election of both county and community committeemen to be held during September. The voting will be by mail ballot, which were mailed to all known eligible farmers in the county by September 8. Any farmer not receiving a ballot promptly should contact the ASCA county office for one.

Full instructions will be furnished with the ballots. Write-in votes will be permitted, but the total number of persons voted for must not exceed five.

The county convention will be held on September 25, at which time delegates will elect a chairman, vice-chairman, regular member and first and second alternates as a county committee, which will take office October 1 and serve for twelve months, or until the next election is held.

Eastern Star Honors Ranking Matron, Patron

DETROIT NEWS

By Roy Maurer

The weather here is just grand! Rev. Nunn and family returned from a two weeks vacation visiting his folks and friends in Alabama.

Schools started this week and, as usual, there was a big confusion all over town.

President Johnson spoke at Kennedy Square (old City Hall) on Labor Day and a crowd of about 50,000 were on hand to greet him and listen to his speech. The parks and beaches were filled to capacity and the highways were jammed with cars going and coming in both directions.

Mrs. Allene Hatchcock attended church Sunday, pretty good after her hospital stay.

Mrs. Ethel O'Connell attended church Sunday and her daughter and grandchildren were all with her. She has been unable to leave her home, as her husband had been sick for five years. He passed away not too long ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hays were guests of ours last Friday evening. Roy and Lucille spent Labor Day with friends who have their home on Lake St. Clair near Deckerville, Mich. and all had a good time.

Jim and Eunice Cates are home from vacation in Mayfield, Ky., tired, but happy.

Mrs. Bleauvelt, age 72, was crowned Queen of the State Fair this week.

The home of Rev. Robert Ostle, pastor of the St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church in East Detroit, was severely damaged by fire last Saturday afternoon, about $2,000 damages.

Clarence and Lis Martz spent their vacation up north and were glad to get back home where it is not so cold. As Clarence says, "Back to work to get some rest."

My niece's daughter was married last Saturday and after a brief reception left to go on their honeymoon. Their car was struck in the rear by a drunk, which threw them into oncoming traffic. Her new husband was cut and bruised badly. She received a bad whiplash and her left side is partly paralyzed, and the car is a wreck.

Our sympathy to the family of Jane Brown, who passed away August 29. Fred Wood Funeral Home in charge of final resting place, Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Don't forget our sick folks. A card will help. We will see you at was good, this year will be bigger the Banana Festival. Last year and better. We need workers, how about you helping? Call the committee for a job. See you in church Sunday. Until next time, remember the kindest act you can do any day is to listen to old folks try to remember. Call me at 293-8161.

Your Wisest investment of time... REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

"If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea: even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." Psalms 139:9, 10.

What a wonderful promise. No matter where we go or what we do, God is willing to lead us and is there to help us.

Another comforting scripture recalling God's love toward us is this: "How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! How great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand." Psalm 139:17, 18.

It is comforting and pleasant to let our thoughts wing upward to verses like these.

We invite you to read your Bible and attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Sports Final

R. Paul Westpheling, III

The Fulton City Bulldogs stomped the Fulton County Pilots Friday night at Hickman. Fulton's aerial game was magnificent and crushed the wall-type defense of the Pilots. The Bulldogs went on to a rousing 40-2 win.

Fulton County, which had won its first varsity football game the previous Friday night, scored its safety on a high pass from center Jimmy Yates to David Mann, the kicker. After their score, the Pilots were stopped due to a good defensive effort. Greg Williamson, the Bulldogs' quarterback, hit end David Mann with a 30-yard pass and put the Bulldogs ahead for keeps. At half time, Fulton led the Pilots 20-2, after Greg Williamson returned a punt 35 yards for one touchdown and Donnie Green scampered 25 yards for another. James Hurt scored the point after touchdown.

In the third quarter Fulton City added 7 more points. Early in the third quarter Don Green cracked another 6 by racing 40 yards off tackle. Don Green again made the extra point. James Hurt raced 65 yards on a sweep and made the score at the end of three quarters 27-2.

After Coach McCann had put in his second, Mike Stevens got the scoring bug in action and plunged over off-tackle, again followed by a 40 yard jaunt off-tackle by Donnie Green. Mike again ran, but this time he made the point after touchdown to end the scoring.

Fulton County had a spark in the fourth quarter, which was quickly extinguished by the defense of the Bulldogs. After the Bulldogs romped over Fulton County, this game left both teams with a 1-1 record. The final score was Fulton City 40 and Fulton County Pilots 2.

See you next week with the results of the Fulton-at-Martin game.

The scrappy, hard fighting Red Devils appeared to be on even terms with their opponents during the first quarter of the game, but with a spectacular show in the second quarter, the Yellowjackets of Greenfield scored their first touchdown with only fifteen seconds to play in the quarter.

They added another TD and extra point in the third quarter, then went on to score a pair in the final quarter to win by a 27-0 margin.
